Something BIG has happened

ON THE AMERICAN ROAD !

• For 1952, Ford brings you the ablest car on the American road. It meets the widest range of motorists' needs. It does more things for more people at lower cost than any other car—bar none! All this has been made possible by the long-range planning of the largest single engineering department in the industry—planning that has introduced to the American road a new standard of all-round motor car ability—the Ford for '52!

New Automatic Ride Control

Wider Front Tread—Longer Rear Springs

The '52 Ford brings you riding comfort that's new to its field. New rear springs are longer. New rear shock absorbers are diagonally mounted. Front springs are tailored to the weight of each model. The front tread is wider—the center of gravity is lower. These features of Ford's new Automatic Ride Control combine to give you a smooth, level ride whatever the road—and also take the tilt out of turns.

White sidewall tires (if available), two-tone color illustrated optional at extra cost. Equipment, accessories and trim subject to change without notice.

Ryan

Inasmuch as no club can be any stronger than its leadership, the Cleveland Indians of the past two seasons reflect great credit on the men who guide their destinies. During those two campaigns since president Ellis Ryan and general manager Hank Greenberg first teamed up, the Indians have won the fourth and fifth highest total of victories in the team's fifty year history. Only the 1920, 1921 and 1948 clubs could top last summer's figure and that was by the slim maximum of but five games. With Ryan concentrating on policy and Greenburg on playing personnel, the tireless twosome has succeeded in giving Cleveland top drawer baseball competition in pleasant surroundings. So far, the pennant and World Championship have been barely out of reach, but 1952 could well fulfil their hopes and reward their efforts.

DICK ROZEK

Born in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, March 27, 1927. Age 25. Ht: 6'1".
Wt: 185. Throws and bats left handed.

Probably only pitcher to spend two full seasons in majors without losing—or winning . . . needs work but can't get it with perennial contender and can't be farmed out again . . . signed with Indians because of Bob Feller after both had been in Navy together at Great Lakes . . . pitched two no-hitters in minors and led Texas league in strikeouts in 1949 . . . considered one of fastest pitchers in American League but lacks poise and control . . . Tribe teammates hate to face him in batting practice . . . plays both piano and trumpet and has good singing voice.

CLEVELAND INDIANS FARM SYSTEM TRAINING BASE

A farm system of 10 clubs is being operated by the Cleveland Indians in 1952. The Tribe has 19 full-time scouts scouring the continent in the search for talent. With these 10 clubs the Indians have many youngsters who may reach major league stardom in the future with the Tribe. In addition to the full-time scouts there are more than 200 sub-scouts who are seeking talent for the Indians.

This is the batting cage at Indianville, the Cleveland Indians' Farm Club Training Base at Daytona Beach, Florida.

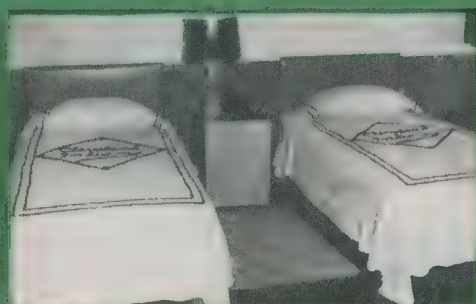

General Manager Hank Greenberg is lecturing to the assembled players at Indianville. These lectures are an integral part of the daily routine for the Tribe's papooses.

Each diamond at Indianville is named after a Cleveland great. Here is a game in progress on Bob Feller field.

Dick Hopkins and Eddie Stumpf check in two Tribe hopefuls at the main office at Indianville.

Rookies attending sessions at Indianville live in one of the most modern training camp set-ups. Here is a corner of one of the rooms.

The Tepee is the center of all activity at Indianville. The recreation center has all the conveniences any young ball player would desire while away from home.

The aerial camera catches an over-all shot of the Wigwam at Indianville. Here are the offices and homes for the rookies during their stay in the Tribe's Daytona Beach headquarters.

HOME FREEZER OWNERS!

... buy choice meats at wholesale prices

If you own a home freezer, you can save up to 20% on your meat bill—and have a good supply of choice meat on hand all the time!

Here's all you do — Phone or stop in our plant and select a wholesale cut of meat, sold at wholesale prices.

What We Do —

Cut it into roasts, steaks, chops . . . whatever size you prefer, according to your exact specifications.

Package the cuts for freezing.

Label each package for clear identification.

Deliver them to your home all ready to store in your home freezer.

We Invite Your Inspection

We think you'll be impressed to see our plant's meat storage and handling facilities—where all our work is done under sanitary refrigerated conditions. All meat is government-inspected, government graded and properly aged. Includes beef, veal, lamb, pork. Also poultry, assorted cold meats and corned beef.

Stop in or Phone

Open weekdays 9 to 3

Phone UTah 1-7626
